ARTIST WHO CROSSED HIS FINGERS BEFORE POSTING ARTS COUNCIL APPLICATION DID NOT GET FUNDING

Crossing my fingers worked so well for me in the past.
I'm at a loss as to what to do next.

An arts council officer who wished to remain anonymous suggested that artists need to up the anti in these competitive times. 'Crossing ones fingers just isn't enough , sacrificing a goat should be at least the minimum' The officer refused to be drawn on whether this had ever resulted in a successful application.

AUSTERITY WATCH

ARE THE FREE WINE AND NIBBLES DAYS OVER?

The artist's face is deliberately obscured to protect their identity

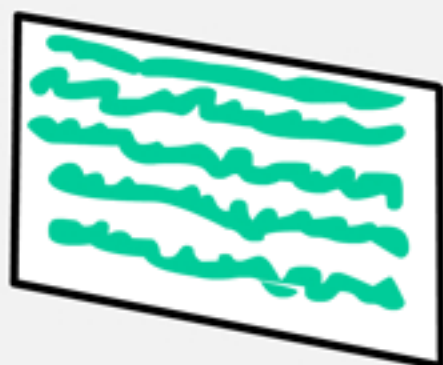

You know the cuts are beginning to bite if bowls of olives and peanuts are being priced off the menu. It's always good to line one's stomach with something substantial before tackling the wine.

THEY SAID THEY'D CALL BACK

ARTIST STILL WAITING FOR RESPONSE FROM GALLERY CURATOR'S 2005 STUDIO VISIT

Well no news is good news, right?

SHOCK CONFESSION!

TOP GALLERY CURATOR ADMITS TO NOT LIKING ART

So far no one's asked me what I think.
Touch wood....

IS IT JUST ME OR IS THIS CRAP?

WHY DO SOME MAJOR CONTEMPORARY ARTWORKS PROVOKE SUCH EXTREME NEGATIVE REACTIONS?

They should shoot the artist.

WAR IS BAD

ARTIST DECIDES TO GET A JOB

'I've always wanted to teach' she claims

Teaching can be equally as rewarding as making art and having your work exhibited at the Tate.
